

ARMY MOTORSPORT

BRITISH ARMY MOTORSPORT ASSOCIATION - SPORTS CARS

Providing soldiers with the opportunity to get involved in motorsport.

The British Army Motorsport Association is recognised by the Army Sports Control Board as an official sport of the Army.

Having its roots in driver training, Army Motorsport has grown since becoming a recognised sport and now includes Sports Cars, Rallying, Karting, Sport Bikes, Enduro and Trials.

The Army Sports Car Team competes alongside the RAF and Navy in the Armed Force Race Challenge. The Race Challenge is 'entry level' motorsport and uses a points system that ensures parity across the grid. Here drivers are rewarded for lap consistency therefore allowing for a diverse grid of cars and neutralising budget as a means to success.

Having grown rapidly in 2012, the Sports Car Team aims to build on the success by:

- Introducing new drivers.
- Starting a Sprint series.
- Developing drivers.
- Building the brand.
- Competition in endurance events.
- Advertising success
- Delivering financial support.

The 2013 Season is shaping up, with races planned at Silverstone, Donington, Oulton Park, as well as endurance races at Snetterton before the season culminates with the Holly Birkett 6 hour endurance race at Silverstone.
